

Sarver Heart Center

Make A Donation to Sarver Heart Center

February 25, 2022

Join Dr. Juneman, Dr. Hooker Live on Facebook Monday

Robert Hooker, MD, FACS

Elizabeth Juneman, MD

Sarver Heart Center

Surgery

What you need to know about

Heart Health & Heart Failure

LIVE

Monday, February 28, 2022

2:00 p.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Sarver Heart Center Jack G. Copeland Endowed Chair of Cardiothoracic Surgery Robert Hooker, MD, FACS and Associate Professor of Medicine Elizabeth Juneman, MD are teaming up on Monday, February 28, 2022 to go live on Facebook, discussing Heart Health and Heart Failure.

Join the Facebook Event

Putting Your Heart into Heart Health

February is National Heart Month and the Sarver Heart Center shares facts, tips for heart disease prevention, and ways members are raising awareness about Heart Health on social media.

National Women Physicians Day - February 3

National Women Physicians Day is on the birthday of Elizabeth Blackwell (1821-1910). She was allowed to attend medical school as a joke, but became the first woman in America to receive a medical degree. She later opened up a medical college for women.

National Women Physicians Day

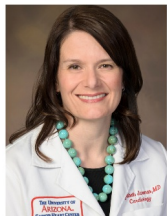

Nancy K. Sweitzer, MD, PhD

Olivia Y. Hung, MD, PhD

Julia Indik, MD, PhD

Elizabeth Juneman, MD

Jill C. Tardiff, MD, PhD

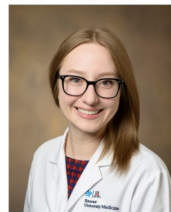

Preethi William, MD

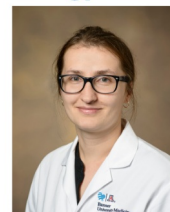

National Women Physicians Day

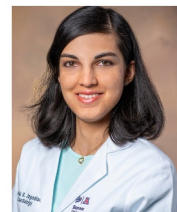

Cardiology Fellows

Emily Cendrowski, MD

Juliya Cress, MD, Pharm

Pooja Jagadish, MD

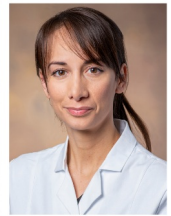

Adriana Martin, MD, PhD

Suzanne Oskouie, MD

Iniya Rajendran, MBBS, MPH

Nicole Smith, MD

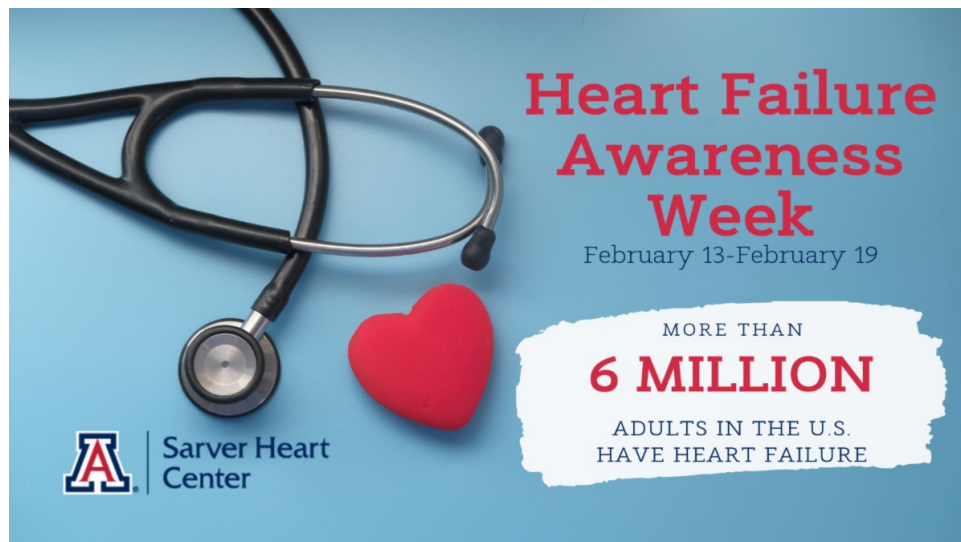

Go Red for Women - February 4

Go Red for Women is about increasing women's heart health awareness. Cardiovascular disease kills more women than all forms of cancer combined.

Mauricio Cohen, MD, FACC, FSCAI of the University of Miami Hospital and Clinics (center in photo) was a Sarver Heart Center Visiting Professor in February, and presented for Grand Rounds with an engaging talk titled "What's Up With the 2022 Revascularization Guidelines?"

During Heart Failure Awareness Week, members of the Sarver Heart Center and Banner University Medicine educated patients and employees on signs and symptoms of Heart Failure.

Participate in Sarver Heart Center Clinical Research

Advances in patient care rely on research. Right now, there are more than 20 clinical research studies underway in Sarver Heart Center's Cardiovascular Clinical Research Program.

Clinical trials are research studies that explore whether a medical strategy, treatment or device is safe and effective for humans. The studies may show which treatment approaches are most effective in groups of people with a particular illness or condition.

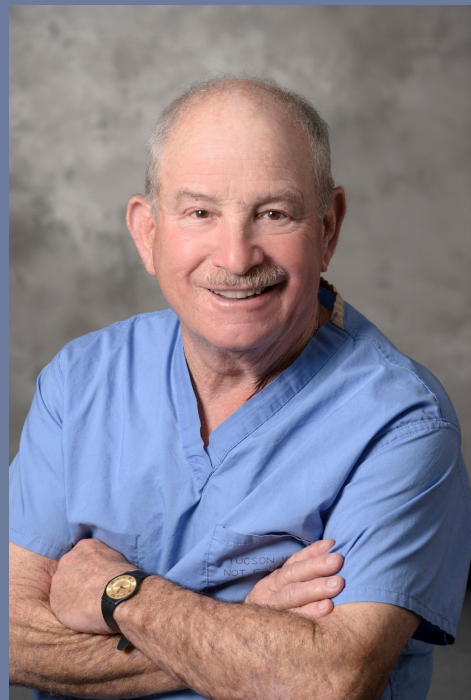

Volunteer participants are needed to make clinical trials a reality. The Sarver Heart Center is enrolling participants in several clinical research trials to improve care for several cardiovascular diseases. Complete a Cardiology Research Registry Information Form if you would like to learn about clinical research.

Your Support Has Big Impact Sarver Heart Center Members Recognized

Carol C. Gregorio, PhD, co-director of the Sarver Heart Center and department head of Cellular and Molecular Medicine, named fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Read more about AAAS recognizing Dr. Gregorio for her contributions.

Steven Goldman, MD, professor of cardiology, was among four UArizona faculty researchers to be inducted into the National Academy of Inventors' 2022 class of Senior Members.

Learn more about the widely regarded world's top emerging academic inventors.

Learn How To Give

In the News

Dr. Corban Sheds Light on SCAD Risk

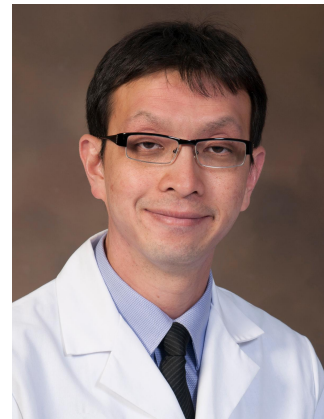

Spontaneous coronary artery dissection, known as SCAD, is an emergency condition that occurs when there is a spontaneous tear in the wall of an artery feeding blood to the heart. It can result in a heart attack, but not through the usual mechanism of cholesterol blockage. Sarver Heart Center Assistant Professor of Medicine Michel Corban, MD sat down with KOLD News 13 reporter Shaley Sanders for an interview on SCAD after her friend, Rachel Lopez, experienced a heart attack on January 1, 2022.

Read More

Expanding Our Reach

Dr. Lee Represents Sarver Heart Center, U.S. on Hong Kong Panel

Kwan Lee, MD represented the Sarver Heart Center, University of Arizona and the United States of America as a panelist on a Hong Kong-based webinar discussing the future of Cath Labs.

Sarver Heart Center
1501 North Campbell Avenue
Tucson, Arizona 85724
Phone: 520-626-2000
Toll Free: 800-665-2328

Contact SHC Staff

